The therapies in plain words

- Doctor's check A short check by the doctor on day 1. The doctor asks about your health and your medicines, and decides whether each therapy suits you before any of them begin.
- Massage (abhyangam) A full-body massage with warm oil.

- Infrared sauna Dry heat in an infrared cabin after the massage. You can end the session whenever you want.
- Massage with steam The same oil massage, followed by moist heat in a steam bath.
- Rectal insufflation A small amount of ozone gas is given into the rectum through a thin tube.
- Ozone body suit Your body below the neck rests inside a sealed suit while ozone gas flows around the skin.
- Ozonated water enema Water with ozone dissolved in it is used for an enema, which washes out the lower bowel.
- Cold pack A cold, damp cloth pack placed on one area of the body, such as the abdomen.
- Colon hydrotherapy Water is passed gently into the large intestine and let out again, several times in one session.

Also included

- Ear seeds, one application Tiny seeds taped to points on the outer ear. You can press them gently at home between visits.
- Ozonated drinking water for 3 days Water with ozone dissolved in it, to drink at home on the days the doctor advises.

Who it suits

- Adults who want a short, structured week of naturopathy care.
- People who can come to the clinic in RR Nagar on seven clinic days in a row, Monday to Saturday.
